Come & visit the shelter, shop at the Ferret Treasures store, and bid on special Silent Auction items! Free admission. Two special clinics being held—please note, you MUST make a reservation for either clinic. Please contact FACT at info@ferretassn.org to reserve a spot.

Dental Scraping, Ear Mite Exam & Ear Clean/Nail Clip:

Have tartar scraped from your ferret's teeth to help prevent dental disease, or have vital grooming performed. $25 dental scraping, $5 ear mite exam, $10 ear clean/nail clip.

Canine Distemper Vaccine Clinic: For $15, a licensed veterinarian will administer a shot using Nobivac™ DPv. Used by shelters and exotic pet specialists, Nobivac is currently the only available vaccine for ferrets.

Silent Auction: bid on unique ferret & human goodies. Due to the limited space, items will be also have a "Buy It Now" price so you can purchase without wait.

Special Home Needed!

Dylan arrived with two other older unaltered males from Pennsylvania. Their owner was having landlord problems and they were only let out of their cages a couple hours a week. Promptly neutered upon his arrival, Dylan has some remaining issues: first, he's been known to chomp people. Dylan is a really smart little guy and he knows very well that hands are what lock him up. He will bite hands reaching toward him, however, once picked up (we'll show you a trick!), Dylan will snuggle on your lap and he loves to play. He loves toys and to chase ping-pong balls. But beware! If he gets bored, Ferrets should be in carrier. Proceeds benefit Ferret Association of CT. On-street parking is available on Sherbrooke Avenue or nearby on Zion Street Extension.

Facebook Popsicle Stick Auction to benefit FACT, run by the Ferret Rescue Fundraising Group

A what? auction? Well, Paypal doesn't allow "raffles," so this is how it works: You purchase sticks for $1 each and tell the operators which item(s) you'd like to apply them to. The auction started May 6 and runs for one month. There are MANY wonderful prizes, including prints from artist Shelly Mundel and Clara Rodriguez, a ferret "netsuke," plush ferrets, one of the really funny "Christmas Dancing Meerkats" and the BIG prize - one of the retired limited edition lithographs by artist Elaine Verstraete of this wonderful ferret business, shown above. The artwork was featured in a ferret catalog back in 1988, where it was being sold for $75, and has been unavailable for many years. This is an artists' proof, considered more valuable because of its rarity. The print is 18" high and 33" wide, including a 4" white border, and is signed in pencil. To enter, go to:

Hurry! Shelly Mundel is offering

he may chew blankets. Second, Dylan bites other ferrets, and we've haven't had luck changing that. His last issue is minor: part Angora, Dylan has extra-long hair and needs regular hairball medicine and brushing to keep him hairball-free.

So Dylan needs a home that can provide the following:

- Lots of free range space
- An experienced ferret owner with lots of time for him

- A home where he can be kept completely separate from any other ferrets or be the only ferret.

Are YOU the special human that can make Dylan happy?

If so, contact us at info@ferretassn.org right away!

Baby Alert!

We currently have youngsters in the shelter who are cute as a button and in need of homes. Lia is only 4 months old, a chunky little sable girl. Mayhem arrived from a pet store, where he had been purchased and returned twice due to hard nipping.

a special incentive for a painting for the first entrants!

Mayhem is a sable mix fellow who is ACTIVE and desperately needs a home where he gets a lot of attention and space to run. As long as he has that, he is a good boy. When he gets bored, however, watch out! Lia and Mayhem do not need a home together, but they need other ferrets to play with.

Lilly and James Franco are an 8-month-old pair of badger-striped cuties. They need a home together.

Please contact us if you are interested in any of these youngsters.
